Design Brief

To create a Kitchen to tie in with fabulous antique furniture & also blend with the most modern components of today's living therefore creating a modern classic space to fit with the tastes of a mix of eclectic, traditional, & rustic New Zealand.

- Large sink for food & Garden
- To cater for large dinner parties & lots of baking
- Storage for cookbook collection
- To take advantage of view
- Organized welcoming space
- No telephone mess
- Cooking alcove
- Fresh light feel

Working scullery created with solid 25mm shelving to cater for baking & a lifetime of well thumbed cook books, preserves etc. Butlers sink specified & positioned with view.

Main Kitchen designed with modern convenience in mind & presence of traditional cooker on show. I changed original window configuration to achieve cooking space & specified vertical sliding window to not interfere with people walking around deck.

Chimney style concealed range hood was used to not only conceal ducting in high ceiling but also to mimic charm of chimney in adjoining lounge. Charred Ash solid timber island top anchors social space to draw people to sit & enjoy its tactile nature & connects with dark French oak flooring.

Telephone centre was incorporated for dedicated telephone space and also provides shallow wine glass storage for entertaining.
